The book was found

Space Case (Moon Base Alpha)
It's a murder mystery on the moon in this humorous and suspenseful space adventure from the author of Belly Up and Spy School that The New York Times Book Review called “a delightful and brilliantly constructed middle grade thriller.” Like his fellow lunarnauts “otherwise known as Moonies” living on Moon Base Alpha, twelve-year-old Dashiell Gibson is famous the world over for being one of the first humans to live on the moon. And he’s bored out of his mind. Kids aren’t allowed on the lunar surface, meaning they’re trapped inside the tiny moon base with next to nothing to occupy their time and the only other kid Dash’s age spends all his time hooked into virtual reality games. Then Moon Base Alpha’s top scientist turns up dead. Dash senses there’s foul play afoot, but no one believes him. Everyone agrees Dr. Holtz went onto the lunar surface without his helmet properly affixed, simple as that. But Dr. Holtz was on the verge of an important new discovery, Dash finds out, and it’s a secret that could change everything for the Moonies “a secret someone just might kill to keep...

Book Information

Lexile Measure: 750 (What's this?)
Series: Moon Base Alpha
Paperback: 368 pages
Publisher: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers; Reprint edition (October 13, 2015)
Language: English
ISBN-10: 1442494875
Product Dimensions: 5.1 x 1.1 x 7.6 inches
Shipping Weight: 12.6 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)
Average Customer Review: 4.6 out of 5 stars Â See all reviews (111 customer reviews)
Age Range: 8 - 12 years
Grade Level: 3 - 7

Customer Reviews

Life on Moon Base Alpha isn’t exactly out of this world. Especially when it comes to middle of the night trips to the communal bathroom. Dashiell Gibson begins his telling of this lunar whodunnit by explaining the ins and outs of lunar living. Though, to be clear, aside from the honor of a place in the history books, Dash mostly covers the remarkably unglamorous downsides of being one of earthâ€™s first â€œmooniesâ€• â€” bad food, the substitution of recycled urine for water, and the challenges presented by everyday tasks like going to the bathroom. And itâ€™s precisely there where the whole mystery unfolds. You see, itâ€™s while Dash is in the bathroom that everything gets crazy. First, he breaks the toilet. Then, he overhears Dr. Holtzâ€™s phone conversation as the scientist is bubbling over with enthusiasm about a discovery that he plans to share with residents of the base in the morning. Only the new day holds a different kind of surprise â€” Dr. Holtz has died. And Dash is convinced that heâ€™s been murdered!

If youâ€™ve read Stuart Gibbsâ€™ FunJungle series, Space Case will feel familiar. As FunJungle series opener Belly Up places a young man (Teddy Fitzroy) in an unusual setting (living on the zoo/theme park grounds), so Space Case sees its hero on the moon. In each novel, there is a mysterious death whose investigation serves as our young protagonistâ€™s reprieve from the usual doldrums of his day-to-day existence. Despite a small cast of characters, the suspect list becomes fairly long and complicated. Dash befriends new moonie, Kira, who becomes his partner-in-crime-solving.

Download to continue reading...

Dmca