This is a fantastic children's devotional. I've had a hard time finding devotional books for my son (now 10) that don't focus on sports themes or that don't limit the Holy Spirit's work in his life (two vastly different complaints, I know!), and this is such a great solution. With this devotional, there is a strong and frequent emphasis on the Holy Spirit's work and power, both in the past as well as in the present, particularly stressing His availability to believers today. It's a wonderful tool for guiding your child into their own Spirit-filled walk with the Lord. This devotional uses short, engaging stories & lessons each day that pull from a range of interests, followed by a "Power Note", which is usually some type of practical application of what was presented in the reading, meant to make the lesson further "come alive" for the child. Sometimes it's a suggested prayer or a call for self-examination or deeper thought; other times it's a suggested activity (e.g., asking a parent some questions; memorizing a verse; a sandpaper vs. mirror texture comparison; a simple writing, drawing, or craft project; a three-legged walk with a friend). My son loves that there's something different to look forward to each day. Though the cover is blue, it's not written for boys only. The content is quite gender-neutral, and as I stated before, each day's reading pulls from a variety of interests that will appeal to boys & girls alike. This might be a good solution for a girl who isn't into the typical pink, girly offerings that frequently saturate the market. Much the same as it is for my son, who has no interest at all in sports themes. It's simply all-around fun to read, for any child.
